Weekly Highlights on Movements of Prices for Selected Commodities and Exchange Rates of Major Currencies - Week ending 1 April 2022

International prices for commodities such as agricultural, metal and fuel products are usually very volatile as they are exposed to various shocks. The trend of world prices for selected commodities over the last five weeks has not been any different. In the week ending April 1, 2022, most of the commodities reviewed saw a decline in price, although prices remain higher compared to their levels five weeks ago and a year back.

Energy

As of April 1, 2022, international price of crude oil stood slightly above 72 percent higher than the level a year ago while, price of natural gas more than doubled during the same period. On a weekly basis, however, price of brent and WTI crude oil declined by 11.1 percent and 12.8 percent respectively, while natural gas increased by 1.9 percent. Compared to their levels on February 24, 2022, prices of brent crude oil, WTI crude oil and natural gas increased by 12.4 percent, 9.2 percent and 22.9 percent respectively.

Metal

International prices of selected metals specifically gold, silver, platinum and nickel showed declines of varying degrees on a weekly basis, during the week of April 1, 2022, while copper recorded price increase of 0.8 percent. On the other hand, on year-on year comparison, prices of gold, copper and nickel remained higher by respective levels of 11.6 percent, 17.8 percent and 104.9 percent, although prices of platinum and silver were lower by 17.8 percent and 0.7 percent respectively. During the week under review, nickel, copper and gold witnessed relatively higher prices compared to the levels on February 24, 2022r, although silver and platinum had a decline.

Agricultural Commodities

International prices of agricultural products recorded varying degrees of declines ranging between 1.0 percent for cotton and 8.8 percent for wheat (HRW) as of April 1, 2022. During the same period, the price of corn (CBT) declined by 2.5 percent, rice (1.5 percent) and sugar (1.2 percent). On the other hand, coffee arabica and cacao showed price raise of 3.0 percent and 1.4 percent respectively during the week under review. Year on year comparison reveals higher prices as of April 1, 2022, for the selected agricultural commodities. The highest annual price increase was recorded for coffee arabica at 87.8 percent followed by cotton (73.5 percent), wheat HRW (67.6 percent), sugar (35.7 percent), corn-CBT (31.3 percent), rice (22 percent) and cocoa (8.7 percent). World prices of the selected agricultural commodities remained higher on April 1, 2022, compared to their levels as of February 24, 2022, except for cocoa which fell by 4.6 percent.

Fertilizers

Similar to the other commodities, international prices of fertilizers saw increases in the last few weeks. As of April 1, 2022, prices of phosphoric rock, TSP and DAP were higher than their levels a year ago, by 138.1 percent, 121.2 percent and 85.3 percent respectively. Compared to their prices on February 24, 2022, an increase of 55.4 percent was recorded for TSP followed by phosphoric rock (22.0 percent) and DAP (16.8 percent). Price changes on a weekly basis, were relatively modest as phosphoric rock increased by 11.1 percent and TSP (4.5 percent), while DAP remained unchanged.

Exchange rate

The major global currencies specifically Euro, British Pound (GBP) and Yen (JPY) show depreciations against the US dollar (USD) of 6.2 percent, 5.2 percent and 9.8 percent respectively on a year-on-year basis, during the week of April 1, 2022, although the Chinese Yuan (CNH) appreciated by 3.2 percent during the same period. All the four currencies showed depreciation against USD, as of April 1, 2022, compared to their rates on February 24, 2022. On a weekly basis, however, Euro and Chinese Yuan showed appreciations, as of April 1, 2022, while British pound and Yen continued with a depreciation trend.

The trend of exchange rates for currencies of most African countries has been mixed and relatively similar to the major global currencies. From 36 African countries, with updated data on exchange rate movements, 17 countries saw their currencies appreciate while the rest of the countries witnessed depreciation of their currencies, against the USD on a weekly basis during the week of April 1, 2022. The highest weekly currency appreciation was recorded for Angola, at 2.5 percent while the highest depreciation observed was for Zimbabwe at 3.0 percent. On a year-on-year basis, however, the movement in the exchange rates were higher and most countries (28 countries) saw depreciation of their currencies. A yearly analysis indicates that the highest depreciation recorded was for Zimbabwe at 40.7 percent and fifteen countries saw their currencies depreciate by 5.0 percent. On the other hand, currencies of eight countries recorded appreciations, on annual basis, ranging between 44.0 percent in Seychelles and 1.3 percent in Somalia.
